

I remember speaking to you about how you're going to turn 31 in just a few more hours and I still cannot believe it.

When I met you first in 1994, for me I got my most favorite companion and that too one for life!

How much ever I hit you, pushed you, cried myself (even after troubling you), and hiding your toys and blaming you for it, I will never stop loving you and treating you as P1 forever and always.

Now that you're not 12 anymore and have chosen to age, I will always persuade Ishwara to bless you with all the positive stuff that you desire (first of all excellent health, lots of peace, and paisaaaaaa)

I hope you're heart finds joy, love, light. You already have enough of luck in your life.

Now fix your passport so that we can go to Vietnam or whichever place that volcano is at.

Love and only love, (don't make me angry and annoyed at you. Hahahhahah. )

Bagulamukhi